

Egg Freezing In Hyderabad: Preserving Reproductive Potential Forever!!

Egg freezing, primarily known as mature form of oocyte cryopreservation, is mostly a method known for preserving reproduction potential for the females. Here, the eggs are taken and harvested from ovaries, frozen in an unfertilized state and stored to be used later. The doctors have the liberty to thaw frozen eggs or even combine the same with sperm in a laboratory and implant in uterus, as seen in IVF. Only a trained doctor will be able to help people understand how exactly frozen eggs work, along with its potential risks and method of fertility preservation, which is suitable for your use.

If you are not quite ready to be pregnant now but want to be sure that you have the ability to get pregnant or have biological child in future, then Egg freezing in Hyderabad is the one method for you to consider. Unlike the method of fertilized egg freezing, the normal egg freezing will not need sperm because the eggs are not going to be fertilized before they are even frozen. Just like with the embryo freezing, you might have to use the fertility drugs for inducing ovulation, which will help you to produce multiple eggs, designed for retrieval.

How egg freezing can help couples:

When you plan to freeze your eggs, it becomes clear that you are not trying for pregnancy right now and trying to conceive a baby later. What people don't know is that once a woman has successfully frozen down the eggs, it gives rise to an immediate psychological boost. It is always a sense of relief that aging of your eggs has been taken into consideration and now you can actually use it later.

This method is practically suitable for couples who don't want to have child now, but don't want to throw the possibility of having one in future. With growing age, it becomes difficult to maintain the proficiency of the eggs produced. But, there are some couples who might want to get a baby when they are matured and old enough. For that instance, storing the eggs now can prove to be a great deal of help. You can actually use it later when the time is suitable for you, and enjoy a child.

Apart from that, egg freezing is also important if you are planning to help other childless couples. Some couples are unfortunate enough to suffer from infertility or hormonal imbalances, which prevent them from having a child of their own. During such instances, frozen eggs can prove to be their helping hands for sure.

Many Bollywood and Hollywood celebrities have frozen their eggs and had babies later using frozen eggs such Ex Miss World Diana Hayden.

Methods revolving around the egg freezing:

Before you enrol your name for the Egg freezing in Hyderabad/Bengaluru /Gurgaon procedure, it is important to know how exactly this service works. The methods are rather simple and already under strict professional considerations.

- The first step always revolves around consultation and fertility assessment. During the assessment, the healthcare team from centres will gather information about fertility and overall health. This appointment is designed to prepare you for the method and catch up with an accomplished endocrinologist to discuss options, future plans and the entire egg freezing procedure.
- Another part of the egg freezing procedure is to determine if this service is suitable for you or not. For that, the team will help you to get medications, payment, schedules and paperwork to start with the cycle.
- After that, you will be prescribed around 8 to 11 injections for hormonal changes. These injections are designed to stimulate ovaries for producing multiple eggs within a menstrual cycle. During this procedure, you have to visit the medical office more than once. These visits will follow up a blood test and trans-vaginal ultrasound for assessment response to medication.
- Next, the woman has to undergo a 15 minutes of procedure, designed to retrieve eggs from ovaries. It will only take place once the eggs have matured and now ready to retrieve. This egg retrieval procedure takes place after inserting needle through vaginal wall. You won't feel a thing as you are under sedation.
- After retrieving the eggs, those will be frozen immediately in the tested laboratory. It will be frozen using vitrification, which is a flash freezing technique. It further helps in increasing the egg's survival rates to around 100%.
- After freezing the eggs, those will be shipped to secure and specialized facility, where these are going to be kept for future use. The team has partnered with industrial leaders for storing frozen eggs under safe and secured platforms.

Benefits involved in this process:

There are some centres, which will not just present women with Egg freezing in Hyderabad /Bengaluru/Gurgaon but will also give them a chance to test their fertility. But, it is rather important for you to learn more about the benefits involved in this procedure.

- Through egg freezing method, you can actually procure more than one egg during the menstrual cycle, in place of just one. It means you can store your egg for years to come and actually get pregnant when you want to.
- As egg quality diminishes with women's growing age, it is mandatory that you get hold of the freezing method now. It will help in keeping the quality of egg stagnant for long, and you won't face any difficulty if you want to have a child at 40 or more.
- Egg freezing is a perfect way to help you maintain personal and even career goals. It will help you to maintain your dream of becoming a mother later.
