

Surrogacy Clinic in Hyderabad

What is Surrogacy?

A surrogate pregnancy is a very complex process and involves multiple facets and it is for this reason why you need to vest your trust in a clinic that specialises and has experience with third party reproduction.

This level of reliability always comes from the best surrogacy clinics. Also, all the Intended parents who look towards surrogacy as an option for pregnancy have enough information regarding the process since they mostly consult a doctor in the fertility clinic before starting the process. This is what a surrogacy clinic does; it provides consultations for surrogacy options, and helps in treatments as well.

Surrogacy and how it helps a couple?

- The basic idea of surrogacy maybe a bit uncomfortable and may seem a bit overwhelming to a new person, and thus you need to find the most trusted surrogacy clinic in Hyderabad/Gurgaon/Bengaluru to keep that discomfort at par.
- The basic idea of surrogacy is that, in case a woman is not capable of carrying a pregnancy, then she takes help of a Gestational carrier/ surrogate mother, who provides her uterus as a host for the foetus to be developed.

Medical Process Involved In surrogacy

Many times a person who is consulting at a fertility clinic with his or her partner can also conduct the surrogacy treatments with the fertility clinic itself. Many different problems are checked and resolved, along with special treatment like vitro fertilization. Once all these tests take place and if anomalies are found, the fertility clinics also assist them in conducting a surrogacy pregnancy.

Helmed by a lot of medical professionals, you will be provided with the most appropriate assistance through your surrogacy process. With a prerequisite testing, it is kept in mind that the physical condition of the surrogate mother is fine or not and whether she can carry the pregnancy.

Once it is ensured that the embryo is healthy, the surrogate mother helps to provide a place in her uterus for the embryo to be attached. Once that is done the hormone levels of the mother are tested about ten days later to see whether pregnancy took place or not. The reason behind conduction of the blood tests and hormone levels is that it provides much more reliable results than the pregnancy kits that you use at your home.

Advantages of surrogacy

- Different tests such as sonograms and blood tests are included in the pre surrogacy check-up. These tests are done by keeping in mind the infertility treatment tests.
- Keeping in mind how overwhelming this whole process is, the psychological tests are also conducted for both the parents as well as the surrogate mother. This ensures that there is mental stability in the decision-making process, and the entire procedure will take place without much complications.
- Also, a mother who is incapable of carrying her baby physically, can take help of a surrogate mother and have the joy of having her own baby.
- This has revolutionized the medical world, and provided mothers with a chance to raise their own blood, and be provided with the biggest happiness.

Closure explaining KIC and Call to action

You might also want to know what happens in such clinics, what is the basic idea behind it, and what is the most apt and appropriate clinic for your needs?

People who are not familiar with the idea might find it a bit uncomfortable, but now we are going to show you what basically takes place. One thing that should be kept in mind before conducting surrogacy, is that the needs of every partner stand to be different.

- Every human being is a bit different from the other and the physical requirements as well. This is the reason why the process in which the pregnancy takes place may vary from person to person on the basis of the embryo, egg or the sperm. This is why you should consult the clinic with your partner first before you undergo the process.
- One of the most important decisions that need to be taken throughout the whole physically and mentally gruelling process of surrogacy is choosing the right clinic for you.
- Also, there are some things that you need to think about, such that the surrogacy clinic that you are going to sign up with, should have connections with a concerning gamete bank. At the same time, you need to know that the process of surrogacy which is truly challenging a task both, mentally and physically. This is why you need to be an ideal part of all the decision-making process when it comes to the working of the agency. So, before you commit to a single clinic, make sure it is the one which provides you a good amount of decision making power.

Another important thing is that the surrogate mother should communicate all that she feels to the intended parents of the offspring. Although they are collaborating professionally, what a personal contact is something which is always required. So before getting into talks with a particular clinic, it is important to understand that communication is the key.
